The Arkansas State Government Guide

● 2013/2014 ●

Dedicated to state employees —
Arkansas's natural resource

Table of Contents

A note on the Table of Contents

Entries in the Guide are alphabetically ordered according to the key word we believe would most naturally occur to a person seeking a particular listing. Therefore, the Department of Correction is under C for “Correction,” the Department of Arkansas Heritage under H for “Heritage,” and so forth. In such cases where an agency or institution is best known by its full name—the State Police, for example—those entries are so ordered.

Those boards whose names begin “Arkansas State Board of...” are arranged under B for “Board”; all others are according to their key words (e.g., Arkansas State Medical Board under M; Plant Board under P). Agencies and institutions that are subdivisions of other agencies are grouped alphabetically beneath their umbrella organization; thus, the State Library appears under the Department of Education, Arkansas State University under the Department of Higher Education, etc.

The General Assembly

The Arkansas Constitution calls for the General Assembly to convene on the second Monday in January of odd-numbered years for a regular session, limited to sixty (60) calendar days; and on the second Monday in February of even-numbered years for a fiscal session limited to thirty (30) calendar days. Regular sessions can be extended not to exceed a total of seventy-five (75) calendar days by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each chamber. (In addition, a regular session of the legislature can be extended beyond seventy-five (75) days by a vote of three-fourths of the members elected to each chamber (Arkansas Constitution, Article V, §19).) Fiscal sessions may be extended one (1) time not to exceed an additional fifteen (15) calendar days by a vote of three-fourths of the members elected to each chamber.

It is not unusual for the General Assembly to address as many as 3000 bills and resolutions in a session. Many of these matters have been studied by committees during the interim and discussed at various public meetings.

In addition to the regular session, the Governor may call special sessions (extraordinary) to consider only those matters that the Governor recommends. In these cases, members of the General Assembly can only introduce bills relating to the subjects in the Governor's Proclamation. However, after these matters have been disposed of, the General Assembly may extend special sessions for up to fifteen (15) calendar days by a two-thirds vote of the membership of both bodies and the Assembly may consider any matter.

The General Assembly is highly structured so that it can deal effectively with all issues. There are two houses—the Senate and the House of Representatives. The Senate has 35 members; the House has 100. The Lieutenant Governor presides as President of the Senate; and the Speaker of the House, who is elected by House members at the beginning of each regular session, presides in the House.

Many improvements have been made over the years to update and modernize the legislative process.

Committee meetings are open to the public; and, as an additional service to the public and news media, bills once filed, are available on the internet.

Space is made available for the news media by both the Senate and House, and the House Communications Office produces a daily radio news program and provides news summaries and press releases to the state newspapers. The Senate Information Office also works with the public and the news media.

The General Assembly's Tour Guide Service assists thousands of visitors who tour the Capitol during sessions. Visitors may arrange to visit their senator or representative during the session by calling one of the legislature's in-session numbers—501-682-6211 for the House of Representatives and 501-682-2902 for the Senate.

Arkansas State Senate

The thirty-five members of the Senate are elected from thirty-five senatorial districts.

A senator must be at least 25 years of age, a resident of Arkansas for two years, and a resident of the senatorial district for one year.

The Lieutenant Governor is the President of the Senate and presides during the sessions. The current Lieutenant Governor is Mark Darr. Senator Michael Lamoureux of Russellville is President Pro Tempore of the Senate. Mr. Lamoureux will be second in the line of succession to the office of Governor.

Members of the Senate's nine standing committees report back to the Senate after consideration of proposed legislation. The standing committees are Public Health, Welfare and Labor; Revenue and Taxation; Education; Judiciary; Agriculture, Economic and Industrial Development; Insurance and Commerce; City, County and Local Affairs; State Agencies and Governmental Affairs; and Transportation, Technology and Legislative Affairs. In general, each senator serves on two of these committees.

The members, chairmen, and vice-chairmen are chosen by a process that relies on seniority.

In addition to the Standing Committees, the Senate has two select committees: Rules, Resolutions and Memorials; and Efficiency. Also, there are seven joint committees: Joint Budget; Joint Performance Review; Joint Public Retirement and Social Security Systems; Joint Committee on Children and Youth; Joint Legislative Facilities; Joint Energy; and Joint Audit.

Arkansas House of Representatives

The House of Representatives consists of 100 members who are elected from 100 Districts. The House is currently has 51 Republicans, 48 Democrats and 1 Green Party, of which 83 are men and 17 are women.

A House member must be at least 21 years of age and a resident of Arkansas for two years and a resident of the district for one year. Members of the House serve two-year terms.

The Speaker of the House presides and is elected by the membership every two years. The Speaker for the 2013 - 2014 biennium is Davy Carter of Cabot. It is customary for the Speaker to designate a Speaker Pro Tempore, who presides in the absence of the Speaker.

The House utilizes an electronic voting system. To vote, a member pushes one of three (3) buttons on his or her desk: the green button means "yes," the red button "no," and the yellow button "present."

The votes are displayed on two (2) large electronic boards at the front of the House Chamber and are tabulated at the Speaker's desk. A computer printout of the tabulations is placed into the official journal and the results are placed on the internet.

Because the House Chamber is large and there are 100 members, each member has a microphone. When a member wishes to speak, he stands to be recognized by the Speaker. Once recognized, the member speaks into the microphone, which is turned on by the Sound Clerk at the large desk in the front of the Chamber.

The Representatives spend a lot of their time in committee meetings, sometimes months before the convening of the session. The House has ten (10) Standing Committees. Each Representative serves on two (2) Standing Committees. No member can serve as a Chairman or Vice Chairman of more than one (1) Standing or Select Committee.

In addition to the Standing Committees, the House of Representatives has seven (7) Select Committees which are: House Management; Rules; Joint Budget; the Joint Committee on Public Retirement and Social Security Programs; the Joint Committee on Energy; Joint Performance Review Committee; and the Joint Committee on Advanced Communications and Information Technology. The House also has three (3) Special Committees, the House Committee on the Journal, Engrossed and Enrolled Bills; the Joint Interim Committee on Legislative Facilities; and the Joint Committee on Legislative Printing Requirements and Specifications.

Mike Beebe
Governor

The Governor formulates policies and procedures for state government and implements these through the executive branch.

He influences legislation by means of the veto, special session, messages, and the scope of his office. He gives periodic reports on the condition of the state and has limited powers to appoint and remove some state officials.

The Auditor of State is one of seven constitutional officers in Arkansas. The Auditor administers the unclaimed property program for the state and acts as the general accountant for the state keeping track of all fund and appropriation balances of all state agencies and writing the warrants (checks).

The Auditor is the disbursing officer for the judicial system and the state legislature, approximately 800 individuals. The Auditor also administers the continuing education program for county officials.

The Auditor is a member of the State Board of Finance, Arkansas Public Employees Retirement System (APERS), Arkansas Teacher Retirement System (ATR), and the Commercial Mobile Radio Services Board (CMRS/911).

 www.cosl.org E land@cosl.org

The Commissioner of State Lands ensures the collection and distribution of revenue from delinquent real estate taxes. During a two-year period after certification to the state, property owners are notified by the State Land Office of tax delinquency, and given the opportunity to pay all taxes, penalties, interest, and fees. The commissioner returns monies collected to the county of origin, revenue that is then redistributed to the original county taxing units.

Properties that are not redeemed are eligible for public auction, conducted by the Commissioner of State Lands, in the county of origin. On the average, between 85-90% of certified parcels are redeemed by the original property owner. The remaining parcels either sell at public auction or remain available for purchase through a negotiated sales process.

John Thurston
Commissioner

The Commissioner of State Lands' office houses original patent information for the State of Arkansas, as well as original General Land Office survey plats and field notes. The commissioner provides access to information from these and other historical documents to the general public. Deeds to state-owned property are also filed with the State Land Office. The commissioner serves as Chairman of the Natural Resources Committee, which regulates oil, gas, coal, and sand and gravel leases on state-owned property, and is a permanent member of the Arkansas Natural and Cultural Resources Council.

The Arkansas Agriculture Department was formed in August 2005 as a result of legislation passed earlier that year. It includes the Arkansas Forestry Commission, Arkansas Livestock and Poultry Commission, Arkansas State Plant Board, Arkansas Aquaculture Division, and the Office of the State Land Surveyor. It is headed by an Arkansas Secretary of Agriculture nominated by the Arkansas Agriculture Board and appointed by the Governor. Its mission is to develop, implement, and coordinate policies and programs to keep Arkansas agricultural and forestry products competitive in world markets while ensuring safe food, fiber, and forest products for Arkansas citizens. The Arkansas Agriculture Board meets quarterly and advises the Secretary on matters related to agriculture and forestry. The board has 29 members including 11 appointed directly by the Governor, 10 named by their respective boards and commissions, and 8 non-voting ex-officio members from universities and conservation districts.

The Arkansas State Board of Dental Examiners was established by the Legislature in 1887 to help protect the interests of Arkansas citizens. The Board is authorized by statute to license dentists and dental hygienists by examination or credentials. The Board issues specialty licenses to dentists who have post graduate training and successfully complete an examination. The Board registers dental corporations. The Board issues permits to dental assistants who have qualified for expanded duties. It issues anesthesia permits to dentists who have special training and wish to use general anesthesia or conscious sedation in their offices. It issues local anesthesia permits to dental hygienists who have special training which meets board criteria. The Board disciplines its licensees and permit holders if there has been a violation of the Dental Practice Act, the Dental Corporation Act, or the Board's Rules and Regulations.

Board of Parole

105 West Capitol, Suite 500
Little Rock, Arkansas 72201
(501) 682-3850 FAX: (501) 682-3860

In 2005, Senate Bill 383 renamed the Post Prison Transfer Board, the Arkansas Parole Board (APB). The move was designed to alleviate confusion on the part of the public regarding Board responsibilities. There are seven (7) Board members and each member is appointed by the Governor to a term of seven (7) years. Throughout the year, designated Board members interview inmates at the various Arkansas Department of Correction and Arkansas Department of Community Correction facilities across the state. Members travel to the various units for parole, transfer, pardons, or commutation hearings. The Parole Board conducts two Board meetings that are generally held on the second and fourth Thursday of each month in which votes are ratified and the public is allowed to attend. The Parole Board conducts two Victim Input Hearings, which are generally held on the first and third Wednesday of each month. Victim Input Hearings are closed to the public. The office of the Parole Board is open Monday thru Friday, from 8:00am to 4:30pm.

Arkansas Building Authority provides services to other agencies, including leasing, capital improvements, design review, flood plain management, the purchase and sale of state properties, and the management of ABA-owned properties. The sections perform the following functions:

- Design Review: Oversees the selection of design professionals, reviews plans and specifications for capital improvement projects and flood plain management.
- Construction: Oversees the bidding and awarding of capital improvement contracts as well as providing project observation.
- Building Operations: Provides operational and maintenance services, which meet the day-to-day needs of the tenants of ABA-owned buildings; and provides contract management services for several other state-owned facilities.
- Real Estate Services: Provides various leasing services by acting as agent for all state agencies. Services include determining agency space needs, providing negotiation for lease property and market analysis. This Section is also responsible for processing the purchase and sale of state owned property.

The mission of Arkansas Rehabilitation Services is to provide services resulting in meaningful employment and independence for Arkansans living with disabilities.

Arkansas Rehabilitation Services provides information and individualized support services, including job placement, in an effort to remove or limit barriers that prevent a person from working.

The ARS Field Program operates 19 offices located throughout the state. Persons with physical, mental, cognitive, or sensory disabilities who wish to apply for services must first contact a rehabilitation counselor. Counselors are assigned to each of the state's 75 counties and regularly travel to locations within their assigned counties to determine client eligibility and bring agency services closer to individuals needing them.

Arkansas Rehabilitation Services incorporates several specialized programs that provide a comprehensive network of counseling and support services like transition assistance for students who are completing high school, services for people with chronic or severe communication needs, and services for the deaf and hearing impaired.

ARS also operates the Arkansas Career Training Institute which provides vocational training and medical services. Additionally, technology information is available through the agency's Increasing Capabilities Access Network (ICAN).

The Arkansas Department of Community Correction (DCC) was established in 1993 as the Arkansas Department of Community Punishment through legislation that consolidated statewide probation and parole efforts and established Residential Community Correction Centers. In 2001, the DCC sought and was granted permission by the State Legislature to change the punishment component of its name to correction to more accurately reflect the Agency's mission.

The DCC provides supervision and services, that are consistent with the principles of evidence-based practices, to adult offenders in the community through its five Community Correction Centers, Technical Violator Center and 51 parole and probation offices. These services strike a balance between rehabilitation, supervision and accountability so that the community is repaid of the offense, public safety is promoted and the offender is assisted in becoming a law-abiding, tax-paying member of society.

The DCC partner with Circuit Judges throughout the state in 41 drug courts that provide an alternative to traditional incarceration through intensive supervision to offenders who have substance abuse issues that lead to criminal behavior.

The DCC has approximately 1200 employees. Other major programs include Technical Violation Programs, specialized sex offender supervision and modified therapeutic communities.

The Contractors Licensing Board was established by Act 124 of 1939. This Act has been amended several times. The Board has the responsibility of administering and enforcing both the Contractors Licensing Law and the Contractors Bond Law. The Contractors Bond Law was established in order to develop a vehicle by which the revenues due the State of Arkansas could be more easily collected. Beginning in 2001, residential builders were required to have a license. Beginning in 2012, home improvement contractors were required to have a license. Applications are made available to anyone desiring to pursue licensure in the State of Arkansas upon request, and tests are made available six days a week for the convenience of those applicants. Today, there are approximately 17,000 licensed contractors qualified to perform work in the State of Arkansas.

The Arkansas Development Finance Authority (ADFA) is the largest multi-purpose issuer of tax-exempt financing in Arkansas. ADFA was formed in 1985 and replaced the previous finance authority that concentrated on housing development. ADFA has retained the former responsibilities of the old authority while adding economic development as a core function. ADFA administers funding in the form of taxable and tax-exempt bonds and notes, State general obligation bonds, State tax credits, the administration of private and public grants, and partnering with other state and federal agencies. Funding activities include low- to moderate-income housing development, small industries, government, education, agricultural business enterprises, and health care.

The Disability Determination for Social Security Administration (DDSSA) determines whether a person meets the medical disability provisions for benefits under the Federal Social Security Act. These provisions are not necessarily the same as those used in other government or private disability programs, and a person may qualify under other programs and not qualify for social security disability.

The social security disability program consists of two distinct benefit areas: social security disability insurance under title II of the Act and supplemental security income (SSI) under title XVI of the Act. Title II benefits are a partial replacement for the worker and his family's lost earnings when the worker suffers a severe disability. Title II claimants must have been gainfully employed for five of the past ten years in work covered by social security. Worker benefits are based on the worker's earnings. After 24 months of title II benefits, claimants are eligible for Medicare coverage.

The title XVI disability benefits program provides income for individuals with severe disabilities who have limited income and resources. Title XVI benefits are funded through general tax revenues and individuals who qualify under these provisions also qualify for Medicaid assistance.

An adult under either title must, because of his disability, be unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12 months, or death.

Currently, Arkansas citizens receive 192 million dollars in monthly disability benefits under the Federal Social Security Act. DDSSA appreciates that these benefits are vital to a large number of Arkansas citizens, and DDSSA continues to pursue its ultimate goal of qualifying any claimant who may be eligible under the federal social security disability rules and regulations.

The Arkansas Economic Development Commission (AEDC) was established in 1955 as the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission. Since that time Arkansas's economy has diversified over the years from the agriculture sector and manufacturing to advanced manufacturing, information/knowledge-based business, and a focus on clean, green, and sustainable companies.

The Executive Director reports directly to the governor. There is a 16-member body appointed by the governor for four-year terms and serves in an advisory and advocacy capacity to the Agency.

The mission of the AEDC is: To lead statewide economic development, create targeted strategies which produce better paying jobs, promote communities, and support the training and growth of a 21st Century skilled workforce.

AEDC is divided into two divisions serving internal and external customers: Global Business, and Administration and Finance. However, much of the work of the agency is done through cross-functional teams involving people from throughout the agency as well as from other state agencies.

Arkansas's public schools are beginning a new trend line with the implementation of Common Core State Standards, next generation assessments, new methods of measuring individual teacher and principal performance and a new system of accountability.

The rigorous and challenging new learning standards will allow us to build upon the progress already made to ensure our students are future ready. When complete, the new assessment system will assess the full range of the Common Core State Standards to determine whether students are college and career ready.

As the state implements a new accountability system to more effectively assess, identify and intervene in troubled schools, steps must also be taken to enact legislation to ensure our students have the most talented, effective teachers in classrooms and hurdles to innovation and creativity are removed.

At the Department, we are guided by our commitment to provide educators a comprehensive set of tools to give every child in every part of our state the opportunity and hope that only comes with a quality education. We carry out that commitment in partnership with Arkansas school districts and other organizations that provide educational programs and services. Students, parents, educators, elected officials, business and community leaders and the general public are all stakeholders in our work to improve schools and raise student achievement.

Established in 1859, the School for the Blind has completed more than 150 years of service to the visually impaired youth of the state.

The Arkansas School for the Blind and Visually Impaired (ASBVI) offers elementary and secondary educational programs which are fully accredited and meets all standards set by the Arkansas Department of Education. In addition, the school provides Braille text books and itinerant teachers for 850 public school students throughout the state of Arkansas who are blind or visually impaired.

Courses are also offered in mobility, independent living skills, daily living skills, and adaptive technology. The school has an extensive preschool program, serving 70 babies and their parents in Arkansas, and comprehensive recreational and athletic programs especially adapted for blind and visually impaired students. ASBVI is a residential school and students attend at no charge for room, board, or tuition.

HISTORY AND ORGANIZATION

The Arkansas School for the Deaf (ASD) operates under the direction, and rules and regulations of the Department of Education as a day school with residential facilities and provides educational services and opportunities for students from birth through the age of 21. Programming includes services in the following areas: academic, vocational, social-emotional, transitional, residential, extra-curricular, and family training. Other services provided by the school are: audiological services, physical therapy, psychological services, health services, nutritional meals, and special training for children with additional disabilities. ASD functions as the Resource Center on Deafness, coordinating programs that identify and provide services to students who are deaf and hard of hearing throughout the state. Daily transportation is provided by local school districts for non-residential students, and ASD provides weekly statewide transportation for residential students each weekend.

The Outreach Program, an early intervention program, provides training to families and children, birth to kindergarten age. This program provides on-campus services as well as home visits by parent advisors throughout the state.

The Arkansas Educational Television Commission has provided lifelong learning opportunities for nearly 50 years. With network headquarters in Conway, AETN broadcasts a public television service five analog and six digital transmitters: KETS, Little Rock; KEMV, Mountain View; KETG, Arkadelphia; KAFT, Fayetteville; KTEJ, Jonesboro; and KETZ, El Dorado.

The purpose of the Arkansas Educational Television Network (AETN) is to enhance and empower the lives of all Arkansans by offering lifelong learning opportunities through high-quality educational television programs and services. The Arkansas Educational Television Network (AETN) fulfills its purpose by providing: educational resources to schools and all educators; innovative and high-quality public media television programs and services that illuminate the culture and heritage of Arkansas and the world; and opportunities to engage and explore new ideas. This relevant AETN content will expand the minds of children, inform Arkansans about public affairs and current events in our state, highlight arts and culture, and invite Arkansans to explore the outdoors and the world around them.

The Arkansas Department of Emergency Management (ADEM) provides assistance to Arkansas cities and counties to plan for and recover from disasters and emergencies, whether they are natural, such as earthquakes, severe weather, disease outbreak; technological, including chemical spills and radiological incidents; or man caused terrorism, including weapons of mass destruction, bioterrorism, and/or other unconventional warfare. The ADEM Director, David Maxwell, is also the state Homeland Security Adviser.

ADEM planners help jurisdictions design emergency operations plans to best utilize local resources. ADEM trainers teach emergency responders, state agency personnel, and community leaders to work as a team during emergencies and disasters. ADEM's objective is always to mitigate the effects of a disaster to property and to ensure the health, welfare, and safety of our citizens, coordinating all our resources. Through speaking engagements and booths at fairs and festivals, ADEM helps the public learn about disasters and actions they may need to take to protect themselves. ADEM also works with communities to secure grants for mitigation projects to protect property from future damage.

During a disaster, ADEM is the state's coordinating agency, matching needs on the scene with available resources. ADEM contacts state, federal, and volunteer agencies to secure the needed resources and help. If the situation escalates beyond the state's resources, ADEM works with the Governor to request a Presidential Disaster Declaration. In a federally declared disaster, ADEM works with the Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to ensure the people of Arkansas receive all the federal assistance available. This is a 24 hours a day, seven days a week agency of State Government, responding to emergency situations of every nature throughout the state and nation.

The Ethics Commission was created by the citizens in Arkansas who voted overwhelmingly to institute strong ethics and disclosure as part of the law in Arkansas. In 1988, voters passed a law (Initiated Act 1 of 1988) which required public officials to reveal their financial connections and how those connections might affect their public duties. The act also detailed which actions a public official can or cannot take, when the actions affect officials, their immediate family, or business associates. Lobbyists are required under that law to register before they can legally operate in Arkansas and disclose their lobbying activity thereafter.

In 1990, another law passed by the voters created the Ethics Commission and added new laws dealing with the money used to finance political campaigns. The new law dealt more directly with activities that elected officials, especially legislators, were prohibited from taking. The law gave the new Ethics Commission authority to investigate alleged violations of the ethics and disclosure laws, and to take disciplinary actions against those who were found guilty. In addition, the Commission interprets all aspects of the law, issues opinions, and provides education and training to persons subject to the laws under its jurisdiction. The Commission and its staff answer questions and provide guidance to elected officials, appointed officials, lobbyists, campaign finance officials, public employees, and the ordinary citizen.

Mission Statement • To protect and improve the health and well-being of all Arkansans

Vision Statement • Optimal health for all Arkansans to achieve maximum personal, economic and social impact

The Arkansas Department of Health is a unified health department, with a main office in Little Rock and 94 local health units in each of the state's 75 counties. Public health touches the lives of everyone in our state. It has a key role in protecting and improving the health of Arkansans. In fact, public health measures have been responsible for many of the major improvements in the health of Arkansans. Controlling epidemics, ensuring safe food and water, and maternal and child health services are a few of the public health activities that have improved our quality of life.

Many of our services are provided at the local level through a statewide service network. Our public health workforce is working every day to promote prevention services and to defend against threats to the public's health. "Keeping Your Hometown Healthy" is more than a slogan for us.

The Arkansas State University System was formally established by Board of Trustees resolution on July 1, 2006, but Arkansas State University began expanding beyond the original campus in Jonesboro in 1955. Today, the ASU System includes campuses at Jonesboro, which offers degree programs through the doctoral level, and at Beebe, Mountain Home, and Newport, where associate degree programs are offered. ASU-Heber Springs and ASU-Searcy are operated as sister campuses of ASU-Beebe. The ASU Technical Centers at Marked Tree and Jonesboro are affiliated with ASU-Newport.

ASU-Jonesboro also offers bachelor's degree programs, master's degree programs, and upper level courses through ASU degree centers at ASU-Beebe, ASU-Mountain Home, and three other cities—Blytheville, Forrest City and West Memphis—where partnership agreements have been established in cooperation with local community colleges. Instructional sites are located at nearby Paragould and at Little Rock Air Force Base. In the fall of 2012, the system campuses enrolled more than 22,000 students.

In addition to the various academic programs leading to degrees, the Arkansas State University System supports significant programs for the state and region including economic development initiatives, leadership in the Arkansas Biosciences Institute, and Arkansas Heritage Sites at Piggott, Tyrone, Lakeport and Dyess.

The Board of Trustees of Arkansas State University governs the university system and is composed of five members who serve staggered five-year terms. The Board appoints the President of the ASU System and approves its operational policies and direction.

Arkansas State University—Beebe is an operationally separate institution of the Arkansas State University System. Since its beginning in 1927, ASU-Beebe has provided quality, affordable instruction and service programs to the surrounding communities. The Beebe campus is located 31 miles north of Little Rock and 17 miles south of Searcy on U.S. Highways 67/167.

In addition to the original campus in Beebe, ASU-Beebe operates campuses in Heber Springs, Searcy, and since 1965, has operated programs at the Little Rock Air Force Base. Act 426 of 1999 of the Arkansas Legislature authorized the creation of ASU-Heber Springs as a center of ASU-Beebe. In July 2003, Foothills Technical Institute in Searcy merged with ASU-Beebe and is now referred to as ASU-Searcy, a Technical Campus of ASU-Beebe. With the combined and integrated capabilities of the four locations, the institution is prepared to provide quality education and service programs to its students and the communities. With the programs provided on the Beebe campus by ASU-Jonesboro, students now have the opportunity to achieve their educational goals through the Master's degree level, providing a unique opportunity for students and the community.

☐ I prefer to pay dues on annual basis and enclose check for $52.00
Membership dues include annual subscription of $4.00 to A.S.E.A. NEWS.

A.S.E.A. lobbies for you

A.S.E.A. lobbyists represent you and are your advocates at legislative committee meetings; at advisory board meetings; on task forces studying issues affecting your lives; and with the administration. A.S.E.A. is the ONLY organization that routinely testifies on pay plans, health insurance, retirement, and working conditions.

A.S.E.A. communicates with you

Membership dues include a subscription to the A.S.E.A. News, published monthly to provide information about state employees, state employment, and state government, while the A.S.E.A. website at www.aseaar.org provides the latest in breaking news. The State Employee Benefits Review—available only to A.S.E.A. members—is a handy, easy-to-read reference outlining benefits from annual leave to the Whistleblower Act.

A.S.E.A. listens to you

A.S.E.A. is a grassroots organization—our members elect the governing board from the general membership. The association's yearly agenda is determined at its annual convention by delegates voting on resolutions submitted by A.S.E.A.'s chapters and members. A.S.E.A. works for what you tell us to work for.

A.S.E.A. benefits you

A.S.E.A.'s Benevolent Fund assists the survivors of association members who pass—$1,000 to the named beneficiary of an active member and $250 for that of a retired member (certain restrictions apply). SEBCO, the State Employees Benefit Corporation, offers both the VanPool commuting program and optional insurance products to A.S.E.A. members—available products include automobile, cancer, dental, life, homeowners', mobile home, pre-paid legal, renters', vision, watercraft, and more. The Purchasing Power program allows the purchase of electronic items such as home computers through payroll deduction. A.S.E.A. members are also eligible to join the Arkansas Employees Federal Credit Union located in downtown Little Rock.

At times, you can feel like a cog in the machine or that, as an individual, you have no voice. Joining A.S.E.A. lets your voice be heard and unites you in a community that can speak louder than any one person.

Call (501) 378-0187 or, from outside Pulaski County, 1-800-950-8139. Or fill out the application on the previous page. Be sure to fill out all the information requested. Dues, if paid bi-weekly, are $2.00; semi-monthly, $2.17; monthly, $4.34; annually, $52.00.

Print and sign your form and remit by mail to:

Arkansas State University offers academic programs and services to provide the citizens of Arkansas and the region with access to an array of opportunities in higher education. Today, the institution enrolls nearly 14,000 students and has 70,000 alumni scattered across the United States and the world.

With a student-centered focus, ASU is committed to educating and serving students by creating an environment in which they can excel academically, socially and professionally. Outreach is also extended to broader audiences through several programs that attract scholars, visual and performing artists, and the public. Commitment to research and scholarly activities is evident in many ways throughout the campus, including in the Arkansas Biosciences Institute, which partners with other research universities in the state to improve the health of Arkansans through new and expanded agricultural and medical research initiatives.

Dr. Tim Hudson
Chancellor

The campus is located in Jonesboro, a prosperous city of nearly 68,000, and is the service hub and market for Northeast Arkansas. The university offers doctoral degrees in educational leadership, environmental science, heritage studies, molecular biosciences and physical therapy and specialist's, master's, bachelor's, and associate's degrees through its colleges: Agriculture and Technology, Business, Communications, Education, Engineering, Fine Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, Nursing and Health Professions, Sciences and Mathematics, and University College. The Honors College offers specialized coursework and is home to 815 students. There are approximately 500 full-time faculty members.

Through its accreditation by The Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, as well as 27 other accrediting organizations, Arkansas State University continues to demonstrate its commitment to quality assurance in higher education.

At Arkansas Tech University, we believe that higher education and economic development are irrevocably tied to one another. That is why everything we do is focused on a singular goal: producing high-quality graduates who can go forth and build a better tomorrow for Arkansas. We consider it a moral obligation to provide students with every opportunity to persist to graduation and realize the life-changing benefits of a college degree.

Arkansas Tech achieves its objective of producing high-quality graduates by ensuring that our academic programs are sound, by providing a great value among the top five four-year institutions in our state and by creating an environment where people of all backgrounds are comfortable.

Henderson State University is Arkansas's public liberal arts university. Established in 1890, Henderson has focused on developing excellent undergraduate curricula in the arts and sciences. Strong undergraduate and graduate programs in business and education, and undergraduate programs in aviation and nursing, make Henderson a standout institution. Most courses are taught by full-time faculty with a terminal degree.

Henderson's unique, high-quality programs include the state's only baccalaureate degree aviation program and the only four-year professional nursing program in southwest Arkansas. Substantial investments in these programs have produced a maintenance training flight hangar with 10 briefing rooms, a 16-plane aviation training fleet and a new nursing facility with a high-tech simulator lab. Other Henderson assets include a growing Honors College and a first-rate business program at the BBA and MBA levels. Serving more than 3,700 students, the university achieves superior instruction while being known as the "School with a Heart."

Recognized as one of the most attractive campuses in Arkansas, the Henderson campus features modern brick academic and residential buildings connected by landscaped pedestrian malls. Student housing options include co-ed suite-style units, traditional-style units and apartments. The Dunn Student Recreation Center, which features a climbing wall and a state-of-the-art weight room, was designed to accommodate students' increasing interest in health and wellness. The facility was recently cited for Outstanding Design in the Sports Stadiums/Athletic Facilities category of American School & University magazine's Architectural Portfolio. The new Simonson Biological Field Station, a research facility with residential capabilities located on Lake DeGray, opened in spring 2012. Construction is currently underway on a new 20,000-square-foot dining facility.

Founded as a junior college in 1928, UAFS transitioned to a four-year university a decade ago and now offers a wide selection of bachelor's degrees while maintaining associate degree and certificate options vital to the region's workforce. The UAFS mission is to "prepare students to succeed in an ever-changing global world while advancing economic development and quality of place." To that end, UAFS combines education with careers to produce think-ready, work-ready graduates.

UAFS additionally delivers work-related baccalaureate options via distance learning and on-site instruction to students at nine community colleges around Arkansas.

Its Western Arkansas Technical Center provides high school juniors and seniors from more than 20 participating school districts in western Arkansas an opportunity to earn college credit and get a firm grip on a career while still in high school. UAFS serves the region's business community through its Center for Business Research and Economic Development, Family Enterprise Center, and Center for Business and Professional Development. It supports regional economic development through partnerships with the Fort Smith Regional Chamber of Commerce, the city of Fort Smith and surrounding cities, Sebastian and surrounding counties, and Chaffee Crossing Redevelopment project. The university's award-winning musical and drama programs, art exhibits, lecture series, and acclaimed Season of Entertainment substantially enrich the quality of place programs and events.

The University of Arkansas at Little Rock (UALR) is an engaged university on the move, a dynamic and diverse institution where students find experiential learning opportunities provided through one-of-a-kind connections within the state’s capital city.

Established in 1927 as Little Rock Junior College, UALR joined the University of Arkansas System in 1969 and today is the only university in Arkansas selected by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching for its coveted Community Engagement classification. The university is widely recognized for its involvement in community issues such as race and ethnicity, criminal justice, and K-12 education. UALR extends its resources to the issues, challenges, and critical needs of state and regional business, culture, non-profit, and governmental organizations and agencies.

Student success is clearly the university’s top priority. To prepare students for a global society, UALR emphasizes 21st century educational opportunities within its six colleges, graduate school, and law school including research, community engagement, and study abroad programs. UALR has more than 13,000 students and 2,300 faculty and staff and offers more than 120 degree and certificate programs at the associate, baccalaureate, master’s, and doctoral levels—designed specifically to address the unique needs of individuals, organizations, businesses, and governmental units in Arkansas.

The University of Arkansas at Monticello is one of eleven campuses in the University of Arkansas System. UAM was created in 1909 by Act 100 of the Arkansas General Assembly and opened its doors for classes on September 14, 1910. Known originally as the 4th District Agricultural School and, later, A&M College, UAM merged with the University of Arkansas on July 1, 1971. UAM is a four-year liberal arts university offering the master's degree in elementary, secondary education, and forest resources, the bachelor of arts degree in eight major areas, the bachelor of science degree in 13 major fields, and the associate of arts and applied sciences degrees, as well as technical certificates at the UAM Colleges of Technology in Crossett and McGehee, and the Heavy Equipment Operator Training Academy at Warren. UAM's enrollment, including the technical campuses, numbers approximately 3,900. The university is fully accredited and holds mature institution status from the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools as well as individual accreditation for its programs in forestry, teacher education, social work, nursing, and music. UAM's academic component includes the schools of Agriculture, Arts and Humanities, Business, Computer Information Systems, Education, Forest Resources, Mathematical and Natural Sciences, Nursing, Social and Behavioral Sciences, and the division of Music.

The University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff is the second oldest state supported institution of higher education in Arkansas, one of only two with a land-grant mission, and the only public historically black college or university. Beginning in 1873 as Branch Normal College, it continued from 1927 until 1972 as Arkansas Agricultural, Mechanical and Normal College (AM&N), at which time it joined four other campuses to comprise the University of Arkansas system. UAPB has distinguished itself as an institution that provides a quality education for Arkansas citizens and students from all walks of life to achieve academic and life-long success. Thirty-three baccalaureate degree programs, seven master's level programs and a doctorate program in Aquaculture/Fisheries are offered through six schools/divisions: the School of Education, the School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Business and Management, the School of Agriculture, Fisheries and Human Sciences and the Division of University College. Four non-degree programs/divisions complete this academic structure: the Carolyn F. Blakely Honors College, which provide programs designed to elicit from students their highest levels of performance; Continuing Education, which coordinates evening, weekend and various off-campus courses; and Military Science, which prepares students who desire a career in the U.S. Army; and the Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) Academy, which exists to bolster the development of underrepresented minorities in STEM careers. Enhanced by a beautiful main campus, UAPB is situated on 320 acres on the north side of Pine Bluff. UAPB also maintains an extended campus in North Little Rock, research farms in Lonoke and Marianna, research and Extension offices in Lonoke, Newport and Lake Village, the Economic Research and Development Center (ERDC) Business Support Incubator (Downtown Pine Bluff), and a University Plaza.

The University of Central Arkansas was established in Conway as Arkansas State Normal School in 1907 by the General Assembly. Its purpose was to train teachers for the state's public schools. In response to changing needs, the name was changed to Arkansas State Teachers College in 1925, State College of Arkansas in 1967, and the current name in January 1975, when university status was granted. Today, UCA is a comprehensive regional institution of over 11,000 students from all 75 counties in Arkansas, 42 states and many countries. There are 136 different degrees offered, ranging from undergraduate, master's, specialist and doctoral. The university is comprised of six academic colleges: Business, Education, Fine Arts and Communication, Health and Behavioral Sciences, Liberal Arts, and Natural Sciences and Mathematics. UCA is home to the state's first Honors College, which is nationally recognized for its academic reputation. Known for its campus beauty, UCA has 118 buildings located on 350 total acres just 30 miles north of the state's Capitol.

The Department of Human Services provides a wide range of social services to Arkansas citizens through its programs and through private providers. The department's mission is to improve the quality of life of all Arkansans by protecting the vulnerable, fostering independence, and promoting better health. Services are provided to people from all walks of life and all ages. The Department of Human Services is the largest of all state agencies and the executive branch of state government. It consists of ten divisions and four support offices. DHS maintains a local office in each of the state's 75 counties where a person can apply for all the services DHS offers.

The mission of the Division of Aging and Adult Services is to promote health, safety, and independence of older Arkansans and adults with physical disabilities by working toward two primary goals: (1) to provide services for aging Arkansans and adults with physical disabilities; and (2) to enhance the quality of life for aging Arkansans and adults with physical disabilities. The Division is responsible for planning, coordinating, funding, and evaluating programs for older adults that are authorized by both state and federal government.

Krista Hughes
Director

The major focus of the Division is keeping aging Arkansans and adults with physical disabilities as independent members of their communities for as long as possible. The Division's aim is to see that a comprehensive continuum of services is available so that individuals may select from a variety of service options to identify the programs best suited to their needs. Programs and services available include in-home care, transportation, congregate meals, home-delivered meals, legal services, public guardianship, attendant care, adult day service, case management, education, support groups, health and wellness activities, employment, information and referral, and volunteer opportunities.

The Division serves as an advocate for residents of nursing homes and provides protective services for individuals 18 years and older who are suffering from abuse, neglect, and/or exploitation.

The Division of Behavioral Health Services (DBHS) provides an integrated system of public mental health care and alcohol, tobacco, and other drug prevention, treatment, and recovery services to Arkansas residents. The DBHS contracts with 12 community mental health centers and two specialty community mental health clinics, 25 substance abuse providers, and 13 prevention resource centers that blanket the state to create a comprehensive system of behavioral health care services and prevention.

DBHS is responsible for oversight and operation of the Arkansas State Hospital (ASH) in Little Rock and the Arkansas Health Center (AHC) in Benton. The ASH is a psychiatric inpatient treatment facility for those with mental or emotional disorders which includes 90 adult acute inpatient beds; a 96-bed forensic treatment services program which offers assistance to circuit courts throughout the state; 18 adolescent acute inpatient beds; and 18 adolescent sex offender beds. The AHC is a 310-bed long-term care psychiatric nursing facility, which serves the needs of elderly Arkansans with disabilities who require specialized services and programs not generally available through community nursing homes.

In addition, DBHS is responsible for the certification and licensure of behavioral health providers. DBHS licenses institutions that operate Substance Abuse Treatment programs, monitors programs for compliance with state regulations, and is the State Opioid maintenance treatment authority. It also sets standards for and certifies organizations as being eligible to be providers of Medicaid-funded rehabilitation services for persons with mental illness and substance abuse treatment services.

The Division of Services for the Blind (DSB) works as a partner with persons, age 14 and older, who are blind or severely visually impaired. The agency goal is to bring about the consumer’s greatest level of functional independence both in the home and on the job. Qualified DSB specialists counsel visually impaired individuals in ten offices statewide. Counselors also travel to homes and job sites at the convenience of consumers to deliver or monitor whatever training, equipment and services are needed to achieve consumer goals. Referrals for information or services can be submitted via the Internet to: <http://www.state.ar.us/dhs/dsb/> or to any of the offices listed below.

Independent small businesses, such as the Vending Facility “Food Service” Program are developed, monitored and supported by DSB staff in conjunction with consumers. DSB experts in technology for blind persons work with consumers and their counselors to assess and develop consumer technology skills needed to function independently.

The Arkansas Information Reading Services for the Blind Network broadcasts readings of various newspapers, public notices and other publications 24 hours a day, 7 days per week. Details can be requested via the Internet at the above website or by phone at (800) 645-8125 statewide or, in Conway, at (501) 852-5125.

The purpose of the Division of Child Care and Early Childhood Education is to ensure that Arkansas children have access to a safe, high-quality, nurturing learning environments to prepare them for future success.

Licensing and Quality Accreditation

- Child Care Licensing – Minimum Licensing Requirements include rules for, but not limited to, health, safety, fire, staff/child ratio, supervision, behavior guidance, transportation, staff qualifications, nutrition, grounds and program.
- Placement and Residential Licensing Unit – Specialists license and monitor Youth Residential, Emergency Residential, Psychiatric Residential Treatment, Sexual Offender, and Independent Living Facilities and Child Placement Agencies that place children in foster and adoptive homes and in residential facilities.
- Better Beginnings – This is a voluntary quality rating improvement system available to child care centers and homes that meet standards higher than the basic licensing requirements. Better Beginnings provides financial incentives to facilities that meet and maintain these higher standards.

Tonya Russell
Director

Child Care Development Fund

- Family Support – Provides child care assistance for eligible families. Applications are available on-line and at the local DHS offices.
- Program Support – Services are available for providers including professional development, technical assistance, and incentive grants. School readiness initiatives and literacy training for early education providers are offered to ensure that all children are ready for school success.

Arkansas Better Chance for School Success (ABC) – The Arkansas Better Chance (ABC) for School Success Program, ranked as one of the top ten pre-k programs in the country, offers high quality early education services to children birth to five serving approximately 25,000 children.

Child Health and Nutrition – Child Health and Nutrition Programs are federally funded programs that reimburse for nutritious meals (breakfast, lunch and snacks) served by providers and sponsors.

Program Compliance – This unit ensures that participating providers and families meet the requirements of programs. Technical assistance is provided when necessary.

The Division of Children and Family Services is the designated state agency to administer and supervise all child welfare services. Those services include child maltreatment investigations, child abuse and neglect prevention, protective services, foster care services, supportive service and adoption programs.

The agency works with children and youth who have been abused, neglected and exploited and also works with the families of these children and youth.

Our mission is to keep children safe and to help families. DCFS respectfully engages families and supports parents in successfully caring for their children; assist with the provision of quality services with available resources that enables families to maximize their potential; preserve and enhance their human dignity and prevent or reduce the need for future services. We focus on the safety, permanency and well-being for the children and youth we serve.

DCFS provides services and assistance that is designed to: (a) allow children to safely remain in their home with their families by helping families address the issues present ; (b) allow children who have been removed from their home to safely return home; and (c) provide adoption or other permanency planning services for children whose parental rights have been terminated.

The Child Abuse Hotline (1-800-482-5964) is open 24 hours daily to accept reports of child abuse and neglect.

The mission of the Division of Community Service and Nonprofit Support is to strengthen community resources, volunteerism and national service in Arkansas. The vision of the Division is guided by the principle that volunteerism, community and national service is a right and responsibility of all citizens and that all people will experience an improved quality of life as a result of this service. The units within DCSNS work as a team to provide a wide array of trainings and services directed at building organizational capacity in Arkansas nonprofits and recognition of volunteers to fulfill the vision.

The Division is organized in to service units: The Program and Finance unit is responsible for the division’s fiscal management and programmatic functions. The unit staff coordinates the publication of Economic Impact of Arkansas Volunteers and the Legal Guide for Arkansas Nonprofit and Volunteer Organizations. The Arkansas Community Service Awards is also managed by this unit and is a partnership with the Office of the Governor and KARK Channel 4 Television. The AmeriCorps Community Initiative of Arkansas is managed by staff in this unit.

The Arkansas Service Commission unit oversees AmeriCorps programs and other national service initiatives in Arkansas. The Corporation for National and Community Service provides federal funding for AmeriCorps programs in Arkansas.

The Field Services unit offers capacity building trainings, consultation and presentations designed for non-profit organization or any organization/agency that engages volunteers. Grant research assistance is available to non-profit organizations by request using Grant Station, a subscription service paid for by the Division.

One specialized area of training is for a Disaster Response Volunteer Center (DRVC), a centralize clearinghouse that matches community needs with people who want to help during a disaster.

The purpose and goal of the Division of Developmental Disabilities Services is to provide appropriate services and programs for persons who have developmental disabilities (autism, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, and mental retardation) so that they may reach their fullest potential.

DDS operates five Human Development Centers at Arkadelphia, Booneville, Conway, Jonesboro, and Warren. Services include residential living facilities, educational and therapeutic services, psychology and social services, vocational training and associated habilitative services.

DDS supports over 100 private, non-profit community-based programs throughout the state through licensure, funding, and technical assistance. These programs include early intervention, preschool, work activity, therapies, family support, supported employment, adult development, and supervised living under the ACS Waiver.

The Office of Policy and Legal Services consists of four sections:

1. The General Counsel/Litigation Section represents the Department, among other matters, in administrative matters and state and federal litigation related to Medicaid, long term care, guardianship, employee garnishments and recovery of money owed DHS from a variety of sources. Litigation involving collection issues are in such areas as food stamp overpayments, AFDC overpayments, grants, fees for services at mental health and developmental disabilities institutions, Estate Recovery, and Medicaid third party liability.

Breck Hopkins
Chief Counsel

2. County Legal Operations provides legal services, among other matters, in the areas of child welfare and adult protective services to the DCFS and DAAS divisions located in county offices.

3. The Appeals and hearing section provides the administrative hearing process by which individuals may appeal adverse agency actions. The section hears cases involving, for example, child maltreatment, TEA, Medicaid, food stamps, intentional program violations, estate recovery, and a variety of other areas.

4. The Office of Employee Relations/Office of Equal Opportunity is responsible for employee grievance/complaint processing, and conducting mediations and fact-finding conferences related to grievances and complaints. This office is also responsible for ensuring employment and service delivery compliance with federal and state civil rights/anti-discrimination laws, regulations, executive orders, etc. This office investigates complaints of rude and discourteous treatment made by clients against DHS staff as well.

The Office of Quality Assurance works under administrative direction and is responsible for planning and directing the Quality Assurance program for DHS. In general, the office provides leadership, oversight, and general supervision for the Department's Audit, Internal Audit, Fraud, Internal Affairs, and Information Systems Coordinator Units. OQA brings together and analyzes quantitative program data housed in multiple databases and divisions across the Department to identify trends, performance, and links across multiple programs. OQA also participates in evaluation of new technologies or solutions to improve service and efficiency of systems and/or sub-systems. Fraud Investigations identifies, investigates, and refers for prosecution individuals (recipients and providers) accused of fraudulently receiving benefits through programs administered by DHS, and investigates allegations of employee misconduct. Audit Section conducts performance, compliance, and financial related audits as well as consults on operational and program issues. It also coordinates the development of independent audit requirements and guidelines, monitors program resolution of independent audit findings, and reviews and disseminates independent audits to the appropriate funding divisions and offices.

The Office of Systems and Technology (OST) is the lead technical organization for providing the Arkansas Department of Human Services (DHS) with information technology services and solutions. OST is responsible for the management, development and maintenance of the Department's information systems and is headed by the DHS Chief Information Officer (CIO). The CIO sets the overall technical direction of the system support operations, directs all future technology development and oversees the work of any outsource vendor. These services are provided to the Department through four major sections, Technical Support Services, User Support Services, OST Administration, and CHRIS Management.

The Technical Services section is responsible for coordinating technical initiatives and activities among private contractors, the Department of Information Systems, and the program divisions. This section also has responsibility for coordinating the hardware, software, and connectivity issues for the Department including determining PC and software needs; monitoring network and desktop support issues and help desk activities; maintaining and updating DHS Internet and Intranet websites; and providing technical assistance to other divisions in regard to technology trends. Eight field support technical services specialists in the counties outlying Pulaski are included in this section; they provide technical staff to support local and wide area networks; coordinating the technical initiatives in the field; identifying and resolving connectivity problems. The User Support Services section is responsible for assisting user with the department's departmental-wide productivity tools, such as Microsoft Office, Sharepoint, and Edoctus.

The Administrative Support section is responsible for coordinating the divisions' information system administrative functions. This section is responsible for developing Advance Planning Documents (APDs), preparing Information Systems RFPs, approving and ordering all equipment and software that is to be placed on the DHS network, and monitoring outsource contracts. The section is also responsible for preparing and monitoring the division's budget in AASIS and coordinating the Information Technology Plan (ITP) with the Department of Finance and Administration.

The CHRIS Management section is responsible for the maintenance and operations of the Children's Reporting and Information System (CHRIS). This system is maintained through both in-house staff and an outsource vendor and provides technical resources to manage and track child welfare cases and clients and ensure SACWIS compliance.

The Arkansas Judicial Discipline and Disability Commission receives and investigates complaints about the possible misconduct or disability of Arkansas judges. The Commission’s purpose is to help enforce high standards of judicial conduct on and off the bench, and thereby preserve both the integrity of judges and public confidence in the courts. Although judges must be free to act in good faith without concern or fear that their decisions will subject them to disciplinary investigation, they must also be held accountable for judicial misconduct. In performing its functions, the Commission strives to maintain the necessary balance between judicial independence and public accountability. The Commission’s jurisdiction extends to about 400 judges, including the justices of the Supreme Court, judges of the Court of Appeals, judges of the circuit courts, and full and part-time judges of the district courts, and city courts.

The Law Enforcement Standards and Training Commission provides training to city, county, state, and other law enforcement personnel and is the only state agency officially sanctioned by legislation to do so.

The academy provides police training in three major areas: 1) basic police training, 2) field training—advanced training conducted in different cities throughout the state, and 3) specialized training—advanced training including radar instruction, officer survival, and firearms.

Additionally, the agency establishes minimum basic training requirements for Arkansas’ police officers.

A prospective law enforcement officer must attend either the Academy’s basic training course or any other approved basic training course during the first year of employment.

The goal of the agency is to develop, stimulate, and constantly present a comprehensive and cohesive program in areas of basic, advanced, specialized, and technical training. Successful completion of this goal will contribute to improved law enforcement for the state of Arkansas.

The Arkansas Military Department provides oversight of the Arkansas Army and Air National Guard, consisting of 10,000 Soldiers and Airmen in 54 communities across the state. The Adjutant General serves as a member of the Governor's cabinet and is the agency's director. The agency is responsible for the day-to-day operation and management of the readiness, fiscal, personnel, equipment, and real property resources of the Arkansas National Guard. In addition, the agency ensures the training readiness of personnel to accomplish both state and federal missions.

The Arkansas National Guard has a dual mission. The federal mission is to support national military objectives as a part of the total force. The Arkansas National Guard participated in every major military conflict during the twentieth century, with the exception of Vietnam. Most recently, the Arkansas National Guard participated in Operation Iraqi Freedom, Operation Enduring Freedom, and Operation Noble Eagle deploying over 13,000 troops around the globe. For a fraction of the cost of the active component, the National Guard is a proven combat force.

Major General
William D. Wofford
The Adjutant General

Unlike the reserve and active components, the National Guard has a state mission in addition to the federal mission. The state mission is to directly support our fellow Arkansans by preserving peace, order, and public safety at the direction of the Governor. County or city officials may request Arkansas National Guard support by contacting the Arkansas Department of Emergency Management.

The mission of the Arkansas Minority Health Commission is to be a catalyst in bridging the gap in the health status of the minority population and that of the majority population in Arkansas. To achieve this goal, the commission focuses on addressing existing disparities in minority communities, educating these communities on healthier lifestyles, promoting awareness of services and accessibility within our current health care system, and making recommendations to relevant agencies, the Governor and to the state legislature on policy measures toward health equity.

The AMHC was established through Act 912 of 1991. The Act specifies that the AMHC shall, a) study issues relating to the delivery of and access to health services for minorities in Arkansas, b) identify gaps in the health service delivery system that particularly affect minorities, c) make recommendations to relevant agencies and to the legislature for improving the delivery of and access to health services for minorities and d) study and make recommendations as to whether adequate services are available to ensure future minority health needs will be met. In addition, Act 358 of 2009 charges the AMHC with developing, implementing, maintaining, and disseminating a comprehensive survey of racial and ethnic minority disparities in health and health care.

The mission of the Oil and Gas Commission is to regulate the drilling and spacing of wells for production of the crude oil, natural gas, and brine (bromine industry), and ensure production of those resources occurs in an environmentally safe manner.

The commission was created by Act 105 of 1939, which provides that the commission will 1) prevent waste, 2) foster and encourage conservation of crude oil and natural gas, and 3) protect the vested co-equal or correlative rights of ownership associated with the production of oil, natural gas, and brine, and 4) protect the environment during the production process. The act also authorizes the commission to prescribe rules, regulations and orders; provides for spacing of wells and the formation of drilling units and force pooling or integration of these units; and provides for penalties for violation of the provisions of the act. Act 937 of 1979 placed the brine (bromine related) industry under the control of the Arkansas Oil and Gas Commission.

A.S.E.A. lobbies for you

A.S.E.A. lobbyists represent you and are your advocates at legislative committee meetings; at advisory board meetings; on task forces studying issues affecting your lives; and with the administration. A.S.E.A. is the ONLY organization that routinely testifies on pay plans, health insurance, retirement, and working conditions.

A.S.E.A. communicates with you

Membership dues include a subscription to the A.S.E.A. News, published monthly to provide information about state employees, state employment, and state government, while the A.S.E.A. website at www.aseaar.org provides the latest in breaking news. The State Employee Benefits Review—available only to A.S.E.A. members—is a handy, easy-to-read reference outlining benefits from annual leave to the Whistleblower Act.

A.S.E.A. listens to you

A.S.E.A. is a grassroots organization—our members elect the governing board from the general membership. The association's yearly agenda is determined at its annual convention by delegates voting on resolutions submitted by A.S.E.A.'s chapters and members. A.S.E.A. works for what you tell us to work for.

A.S.E.A. benefits you

A.S.E.A.'s Benevolent Fund assists the survivors of association members who pass—$1,000 to the named beneficiary of an active member and $250 for that of a retired member (certain restrictions apply). SEBCO, the State Employees Benefit Corporation, offers both the VanPool commuting program and optional insurance products to A.S.E.A. members—available products include automobile, cancer, dental, life, homeowners', mobile home, pre-paid legal, renters', vision, watercraft, and more. The Purchasing Power program allows the purchase of electronic items such as home computers through payroll deduction. A.S.E.A. members are also eligible to join the Arkansas Employees Federal Credit Union located in downtown Little Rock.

At times, you can feel like a cog in the machine or that, as an individual, you have no voice. Joining A.S.E.A. lets your voice be heard and unites you in a community that can speak louder than any one person.

Call (501) 378-0187 or, from outside Pulaski County, 1-800-950-8139. Or fill out the application on the previous page. Be sure to fill out all the information requested. Dues, if paid bi-weekly, are $2.00; semi-monthly, $2.17; monthly, $4.34; annually, $52.00.

 www.plantboard.arkansas.gov

The duties of the Plant Board are to make rules and regulations, under the laws that have been enacted by the legislature, and to take action against persons violating these regulations.

All laws and regulations administered by the Plant Board are for the protection of the consumer and the agricultural industry of the state. They include regulatory controls on consumer goods, services, and products, and services used in agricultural production, as well as programs designed to control and prevent the dissemination of destructive plant insects and diseases and household pests and structural pests.

Public hearings are held by the board on matters of a controversial nature or when major proposals are made to change the regulations.

The board collects license and inspection fees from all phases of the agricultural industry under its jurisdiction and is self-supporting except for the survey and quarantine programs, part of the public grain warehouse work, and the Bureau of Standards. These programs are funded through general revenues.

The Arkansas Psychology Board was created by Act 129 of 1955 to regulate the practice of Psychology in the State of Arkansas. The major responsibility of the Arkansas Psychology Board is to ensure the citizens of Arkansas are protected from misrepresentation, unethical practice, and/or incompetence in the practice of psychology.

The Board is charged by law with regulating the practice of psychology within the State of Arkansas. Therefore, the Board performs two major functions. The first involves approving the credential of applicants and then scheduling written examinations and administering the oral examinations. The second primary function performed by the Board involves the investigation or possible ethical violations or allegations of incompetent or fraudulent practices.

The Board is composed of nine members: Five Psychologists (doctoral level practitioners), two Psychological Examiners (master's level practitioners), one Consumer Representative, and one Senior Citizen Representative. All members are appointed by the Governor to terms of five years.

The mission of the Department of Rural Services and the Arkansas Rural Development Commission is to “Enhance the Quality of Life in Rural Arkansas.” DRS’s primary purpose is to be a central coordinating agency for rural development and to act as an advocate for rural Arkansas. Additionally, the agency administers four grant programs to assist small communities with development projects. They are the Rural Community Development Grant Program, the Rural Community Fire Protection Grant Program, the Rural Services Block Grant Program, and the County Fair Building Grant Program.

John Andrews
Director

DRS staff are also available to conduct research into other funding opportunities to assist in development needs outside the scope of the above programs. The DRS staff are carefully picked to ensure their dedication to the agency’s mission and their eagerness to assist the citizens of rural Arkansas.

The Arkansas Science and Technology Authority has the important strategic role of increasing per capita income through the promotion of math, science, and engineering education; research and development; entrepreneurship; risk capital investments; and sustaining knowledge jobs in Arkansas. It does this by providing matching funds for university research projects seeking federal funds, such as the National Science Foundation's Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research and NASA's Space Grant Consortium. The Authority assists entrepreneurs and knowledge-based enterprises through seed capital and technology development investments and collaborating with the Arkansas Economic Development Commission in the use of other economic incentives.

Dr. Blake Perry
Interim President

In addition, the Authority helps enterprises participate in the federal Small Business Innovation Research program through its Technology Transfer Assistance Grants program. It is also committed to improving the quality, productivity, and competitiveness of Arkansas' industries by providing technical and management assistance through Arkansas Manufacturing Solutions.

The Securities Department is responsible for protecting the financial well-being of Arkansas citizens through the effective enforcement of various statutes which regulate several segments of the financial services industry—issuers of securities, securities brokers, investment advisers, state chartered credit unions, state chartered savings and loans, mortgage lenders, loan brokers, money transmitters currency exchange, and perpetually maintained cemeteries. At the same time, the department strives to balance this protective function against the need for the financial and capital markets to function efficiently and without unnecessary regulatory impediments. The department administers the various statutes by registration or licensing of the financial service providers, by examination of financial records and information submitted to the department, by on-site examination of those providers physically located in the state, and by investigation of complaints from the general public of misconduct or unlicensed activity.

The Arkansas Student Loan Authority provides education loan servicing primarily for students attending Arkansas colleges and universities. ASLA also provides college planning services emphasizing the importance of higher education. ASLA presents valuable information to students and parents at financial aid workshops, college fairs, seminars and conferences throughout the state of Arkansas. Information disseminated includes admissions testing information, scholarship resources, virtual campus tours, and high school counselor materials.

Tony Williams
Executive Director

The Arkansas Student Loan Authority's web portal, Fund My Future, has dual purposes: 1) to encourage individuals to enter the critical career fields of nursing and teaching and 2) provide a free scholarship search to all Arkansas students regardless of major or career interest. Fund My Future's mission is to make college education and student financial aid information accessible to all students with a focus on those majoring in or considering in majoring in nursing or teaching in Arkansas colleges and universities. Fund My Future serves as a clearinghouse of information for educational programs, financial aid, continuing education programs, licensing information and career placement information. It encourages nursing and teaching graduates to remain in Arkansas where their skills and knowledge can make a difference in communities across the state. Currently over 3,000 scholarships reside in the database, and additions are made on a continual basis.

Arkansas Tobacco Control (ATC) is tasked with enforcing all state civil and criminal laws and rules concerning the sale and distribution of cigarettes and tobacco products in the State of Arkansas. ATC is also responsible for issuing permits to all retail and wholesale tobacco vendors as well as enforcing youth access to tobacco laws. ATC works closely with federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies to interdict the smuggling of untaxed tobacco into the State of Arkansas. Additionally, ATC also regulates and enforces the Arkansas Cigarette Fire Safety Standard Act.

The primary responsibilities of the Workers' Compensation Commission are to administer and enforce the state's Workers' Compensation Law and to adjudicate all work-related injury claims by employees against their employers or insurance carriers.

The adjudication function is carried out by 12 administrative law judges who hear and determine claims throughout the state. Nine of the administrative law judges operate out of the Little Rock office, two are headquartered in Fort Smith, and one in Springdale.

The three commissioners serve as the appeals tribunal for decisions appealed from the administrative law judges, in addition to their overall administrative responsibilities.

About the Cover

The cover of this edition of the State Government Guide features the House of Representatives Chamber. Photograph is courtesy of the Office of Mark Martin Secretary of State

That's why the Arkansas State Employees Association has worked hard for state employees for over four decades.

The Arkansas State Government Guide is the only such publication of its kind to catalogue the components of the state's governmental machinery. Likewise, the Arkansas State Employees Association is the only such organization of its kind to fight exclusively for the interests of the hard workers who make that machinery run. A.S.E.A. has been proud to represent the interests of the state's employees since 1968.
